FROM THE DEAN

Dear Colleagues,

Here we are again at the beginning of a new season for the church as well as our AGO chapter. We have a wonderful array of programs in the works for you that vary in style and content. Our opening event will be interesting, invigorating and interactive with an engaging speaker, Dr. Victoria Sirota and a tasty buffet meal. Our second event (Nov. 8) will be fun and joyful as we lead each other in singing hymns with our individual styles of hymn-playing.

This leads me to Hymns and Hospitality--two of the most important aspects of worship. I recently attended First Presbyterian Church in Charlotte, North Carolina, where the congregation exuded hospitality. One choir member, whom I met before Sunday School, made a point to find me after worship to see how I liked it and make sure that everyone had been friendly!

The congregation has adopted the new Presbyterian hymnal, Glory to God, which prompted them to consider what their favorite hymns are and why. Members were invited to choose a hymn and write a short essay about it. Then some of the thoughts were compiled into a booklet. What a lovely idea! All the essays were thoughtful and interesting, but two really stood out. The Associate Pastor mentioned that she felt "woefully behind" her classmates when she started seminary because she hadn't been a religion major. But she realized that her faith and theology were deeply planted due to the hymns she had learned throughout her life. She commented that hymns "seep into our minds, hearts, and consciousness, giving us a firm ground to stand on as we navigate our lives in faith." Amen to that!!

A teenager mentioned that she finds herself humming hymns quite often, and said "I think that God sticks these tunes in my head to remind me of his presence even when I am not at church. For me, humming or singing hymns is one of the most enjoyable ways to be in a relationship with God."

Think about what hymn touches your heart the most. (Or maybe you're like me and have at least 20 favorites!) Plan to lead us in one of those hymns at the November 8 workshop. A schedule of events is enclosed for you to print and post on your refrigerator, bulletin board, bathroom mirror or car visor. PLEASE join us for as many events as you can this year. Our chapter is only as strong as YOU help to make it.

Kathy Hart, Dean
